

The Hour of the Builder

This morning, I was awakened to the confident, yet instructional voice of my Father stating "Dana, we are in the hour of the builder". It's time to build! He who has an ear to hear, let him hear!

There is creative innate desire and passion in every man to build. To build is to construct (especially something complex) by assembling and joining parts or materials. To build is to "construct a house", and truly the Lord is constructing His House in these latter days. An edifice is being erected, a fitting together, assembling, and stretching out of God's people, who is called "the House of God". In the process of building, you will always find obstructions, things that block up, build up, and hinder. And, it's these obstructions the Lord is clearly having us to see and deal with during this season. There is no other foundation the Lord will build upon but Himself. So, if there is any foundation outside of Him which has been constructed "in our lives" the Holy Spirit will eradicate it.

My level of competence in the world of Integrated Technology (IT) has allowed me to build computers, and build entire Learning Management Systems (LMS) training programs. These formidable tasks and projects have allowed me to tap within me, the innate character and nature of my Father to build. What we do in our occupation is usually a training ground to hewn and refine the "divine characteristics" of our human spirit. In other words, an occupation "is what occupies our time" - it's not something we do to collect a paycheck, but a place of preparation where we become clay in the hands of our Father, and an arrow in the quiver of our God. Many of us have been in the "wilderness" - the wilderness is the place of preparation and a place of transition, a place where the Lord matures us. But in every resting place that God has ordained on this journey from Egypt to Canaan, we are to learn more and more of Him.

When you build a computer everything is contingent on the "motherboard". The motherboard is the foundation for all other components. It determines the amount or how much memory a computer can require, what internal and external components can be used, how refined your resolution and graphics will be, and how much space you can have on a hard drive or storage device. The context of the House of God provides a framework to the spiritual components needed to build in this time. And, the context of a Holy Nation is the context in which everyone's destiny can be fulfilled; it cannot be done in the context of a congregation.

I have been greatly saddened by the lack of creativity and response to build I have been encountering with men, especially young men. A lot of men, who have been called to build, are now maintainers. They are maintaining what others are building. This is the hour where you are to drop your nets, and follow Him. This is "the hour of the builder". The Lord is requiring what He has placed in

His field (which is you) to be brought out. A lot of things that have been underneath are coming to the surface. All that is left to be uncovered is being uncovered; so that it can be set in order. This is a time where God is unveiling the hidden things of the HEART - for us that means he is revealing our destiny. Matthew 13:44 which says "The kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field. When a man found it, he hid it again, and then in his joy went and sold all he had and bought that field."

This is the season for going back to that field and uncovering that treasure -- God is going to let everybody see what we bought when we sold everything to buy that field. In I Cor. 3:9 Paul says "you are God's field". It's a buried treasure, to be brought out at the right time. The time is right for you! It's time once again to build.

To learn more about the House of God, I highly recommend you read the following book:
