WHOLEHEARTEDLY

Bible Text: Colossians 3:23-25

Central Truth: When we are in step with the Holy Spirit and aware of His presence we will realize that something special is going on in our life.

I have always been drawn to people who give it their whole heart. No matter what the "it" is, I like it when they give it their all. The Singers who sing with passion. Actors who give the role their playing all their energy. Athletes who leave it all on the field or court. Children who sing with all their heart. Teachers who teach because they have a passion for sharing knowledge. Preachers who preach because they have a passion for sharing God with their listeners. Churches that serve the people of their community with joy and enthusiasm.

On the other hand, I am easily frustrated with and completely turned off by those who do things halfheartedly. Houses that get half-built are not very impressive. Movies that are done poorly. Games that are played without a desire for excellence. Music that has no life to it. Worship that is not really worship.

Wedding Celebrations

There is great strength in the union of a married couple when God is included. The power of heaven is released to bless their lives.

Anniversary blessings to:

The Sanders' & Daniels'

I like people and things that are done with the whole heart. I get down on myself when I slip into a mode of doing things halfway. Articles that are written just to get something written. Messages that are brought without the Spirit. Conversations that do not lead to life.

I am talking about more than enthusiasm. Anyone can act enthusiastically. I am talking about passion. I am talking about wholehearted devotion. I like to do things with my whole heart, see things done with the whole heart, be a part of things that are done with the whole heart, and be with people who want to give their whole heart to their task. I am not saying I always give my whole heart, but with all my heart I want to grow to the point that nothing is done halfway.

How do I get there? What do I need to learn, or relearn that will help me to live my life with my whole heart? Here are three (3) passages that remind me that I need to give my whole heart.

“Of all the commandments, which is the most important?” “The most important one,” answered Jesus, “is this: ‘Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God, the Lord is one. Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength.’ The second is this: ‘Love your neighbor as yourself.’ There is no commandment greater than these.” (Mark 12:28-31, NIV)

“Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men, since you know that you will receive an inheritance from the Lord as a reward. It is the Lord Christ you are serving. Anyone who does wrong will be repaid for his wrong, and there is no favoritism.” (Colossians 3:23-25, NIV)

“These are the words of the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the ruler of God's creation. I know your deeds, that you are neither cold nor hot. I wish you were either one or the other! So, because you are lukewarm--neither hot nor cold--I am about to spit you out of my mouth.”(Revelation 3:15-16, NIV)

I look forward to the day when I can truthfully say I give my whole heart to everything I do. When I write I will always put my whole heart into the piece of literature. When I teach I will always put my whole heart into the lesson. When I listen I will always give my whole heart to the person speaking. When I worship I will always give my whole heart to the Lord. I am not there yet, but I am really working on it. I want to live with my whole heart? How about you?

The Lord wants to bless us with great moments in our life. But if we are living life halfheartedly we may miss them. However, when we are in step with His Spirit and aware of His presence we will realize that something special is going on. Even though we may not fully understand all that it means or where it may lead, we know that we are in the presence of God and squarely in tune with His will when we give our whole heart to Him.

Memory Text

“Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men, since you know that you will receive an inheritance from the Lord as a reward. It is the Lord Christ you are serving.” (Colossians 3:23-25, NIV)

THE MILLENNIAL GENERATION

Want More Than Just Good Intentions?

Much has been written about the emerging new generation of adults often referred to as Millennials. As so often happens, those who are older and who have a different focus to life often speak using dire terms to describe the coming new generation. Yet the difference between the generations currently "in control" and the Millennials is enormous. It is more than a generation gap; we are seeing a shift in world culture that most experts say is as large as the shift from the Dark Ages to the Renaissance — this shift is a movement from a modernist mind set to what is called post modernism.

Those who wring their hands about Millennials (also called post moderns) often point to their lack of belief in absolute truth — something we'll look at next week — and a deep distrust of religious explanations and the smarmy "good intentions" talk of baby boomers. Yes, folks, we are in for a major culture shift. However, rather than wringing our hands, let's take heart. Even more than that, influencing Millennials should move us to putting our lives where our mouths are in our Christian walk. There are many things about this emerging group that should give us hope and make us take heart. Let's look at just a few.

First, this group recognizes that it has a deep spiritual hunger; their skepticism with traditional religious answers has opened their hearts to seek for deeper spiritual insight. Some of that hunger can take them in horribly dangerous spiritual places, but it also opens the door for a Godly view of the Bible and especially the books of Acts, Ephesians and Colossians as they seek to find answers in a universe bigger than what man can explain.

Second, this group longs to have multi-generational connections; rather than disdaining older folks, they seek friendship and understanding from those who have lived many years and tried to do so with integrity and vibrancy. Incredible opportunities for interaction await those willing to engage in relationship across the shift of cultural boundaries.

Third, Millennials want religion that is experiential and genuine; phony-sounding religious talk or religious-political bombast, especially when not backed up by honestly living out ones Christian "sloganeering," is anathema — the worst of all dishonesties. Ready to volunteer to help others and searching for a real sense of community, Millennials are willing to get involved with groups that make a real difference in people's lives. To them professed faith in Christ must be backed up by good works, compassion, and community. If not, religious talk will be considered irrelevant by this group.

As all of you know I love movies even Batman movies – I know, there goes all of my credibility. In the movie "Batman Begins," we get a glimpse of this emerging culture's search for values. The movie shows a godless landscape of poverty and crime set against the extravagance of scientific advancement and modernistic cities, we find a few yearning souls — young and old — who are desperately seeking to rid the world of evil and do what is right. Benevolent idealism has fallen victim to wickedness and corruption. In the movie, this idealism is powerless to hold off the overwhelming tide of real evil. The other alternative to idealism is a high-tech and highly skilled group of self-appointed utilitarian vigilantes who want to ruthlessly eradicate wickedness from society. This group proves to be as evil as the wickedness it seeks to destroy.

The defining line in the movie is emphasized twice: "It's not who I am underneath, but what I do that defines me." The line, so true to the millennial spirit, is a reminder that any true solution must be more than just good intentions; it must come to life in the real world through genuine action. This point of view doesn't mean that motives and intentions are unimportant; it just means that if we don't move beyond the sweet and benevolent sounding motives and intentions to demonstrable and helpful behavior, then those motives and intentions are irrelevant, at best.

Of course this point of view finds a clear voice in Scripture:

"Dear brothers and sisters, what's the use of saying you have faith if you don't prove it by your actions? That kind of faith can't save anyone. Suppose you see a brother or sister who needs food or clothing, and you say, "Well, good-bye and God bless you; stay warm and eat well" — but then you don't give that person any food or clothing. What good does that do? So you see, it isn't enough just to have faith. Faith that doesn't show itself by good deeds is no faith at all — it is dead and useless.

Now someone may argue, "Some people have faith; others have good deeds." I say, "I can't see your faith if you don't have good deeds, but I will show you my faith through my good deeds."

Do you still think it's enough just to believe that there is one God? Well, even the demons believe this, and they tremble in terror! Fool! When will you ever learn that faith that does not result in good deeds is useless?" (James 2:14-20 NLT)

To express this point of view in another way, we can turn to God's clear declaration in Jesus that a good and authoritative message is not enough. That message must enter into the suffering of the world, feel its dark and dirty corners, and offer the hope of real life. John puts it this way:

"In the beginning the Word already existed. He was with God, and he was God. He was in the beginning with God. He created everything there is. Nothing exists that he didn't make. Life itself was in him, and this life gives light to everyone. The light shines through the darkness, and the darkness can never extinguish it. ... So the Word became human and lived here on earth among us. He was full of unfailing love and faithfulness. And we have seen his glory, the glory of the only Son of the Father." (John 1:1-5, 14)

The door is open for believers who are interested in influencing the future in profound ways by investing themselves in Millennials. If we will embrace, encourage and provide an example to those who are entering adulthood and are looking for a foundation for life that is genuinely lived by those who profess it, God can use us to be a bridge to faith for Millennials! Let's make sure our churches and our hearts are open to the searching souls who will find their satisfaction only in a Jesus-centered life and who will only find it in communities who do ministry as Jesus did — down and dirty in the middle of the real world of desperation and brokenness.

Higher Mountain...Higher Praises

NEW ILLINOIS HOME Cheryl Hudson

Hello Everyone, My place is finally completed and I am all moved in (with a bunch of boxes right now)!

McClain Ministries is blessed to be able to share in your dreams.

BLOOD COVENANT PRAISE REPORT Mary Simpson

My son Charles will be ordained as a deacon at: Cade Chapel Baptist Church, 1000 W. Ridgeway Street - Jackson, MS 39213, Sunday - July 30, 2006 - 6:00 p.m. One of my blood covenants goals was that God would use my sons according to his will. Another one was prayer for my immediate family members to become closer to the Lord. My brother Kaple Hill has been called into the ministry and did his first sermon in April. God is REAL! He hears and answers prayers.

McClain Ministries is blessed to be able to share in your dreams.

ASK AND YOU SHALL RECEIVE Sylvia Williams

Just about 2 days ago I got up in the morning about 6:00am, went out and sat on the front porch and began to read my bible. I went to Genesis, Chapter 1. I got to the place (Gen. 1:26) where God said, Let us (Father, Son, and Holy Spirit) make mankind in Our image, after Our likeness, and let them have complete authority over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the tame beasts, and over all of the earth, and over everything that creeps upon the earth. And (Gen. 1:27) So God created man in His own image, in the image and likeness of God He created him; male and female He created them. I read on until I got to (Gen 2:7) then the Lord God formed man from the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath or spirit of life, and man became a living being.

I got really confused! I said, "GOD said that he made man in chapter 1 then in chapter 2 He said He formed man from the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath or spirit of life, and man became a living being." This was really on my mind. I really wanted to know what this meant. I don't understand!

Well, GOD woke me up the next morning about 4:00 am. I sat in the chair in my bedroom and started to change the channel on the TV and guess where I stopped; on a Christian station where a pastor was talking about this subject. He said that GOD meant for man to be single in the beginning. He said that in Gen. 1 the man was singleness where his only purpose was to serve GOD. His total submission was to GOD. He had no place for marriage because he was made in the image and likeness of GOD the Father, Son, and the Holy Spirit. In Gen. 2 this man was formed from the ground (earthly). God said it is not good that this man should be alone so then he made Eve (woman) for man.

He said that the reason why there are so many divorces today is because of expectation. That we expect so much from each other and when we don't get what we expect we want to leave the marriage. He said that most of the time a man says I love you because he is in heat, not in love. He said that you must first be the man that God made in Gen. 1 (spirit-filled) before we can become a married man.

He also spoke on divorce. He said that unless there is adultery in your marriage you have no right to break the institution of marriage. And if you do divorce for another reason, you are still married until adultery is committed. He said that by no means, should you to stay in an abusive marriage but you are still married until adultery is committed.

I felt so blessed that GOD took time out to speak to me about something that was on my mind. I did not formally ask him for information on this; I just spoke out of my mouth that I wanted to understand these passages better because I was confused. I know that I have not fully gotten the revelation of these verses but "Big H" has it in his works to give me understanding. TO GOD BE THE GLORY!!!

TRUST GOD!
Denise Jones

Oh yes... It is time to tell the story. When all else fails...when you think its all over, stand back and watch God do His work.

When I received a phone call one morning from my husband saying that his job laid him off Satan wanted me to CRUMBLE but instead I looked up towards heaven and said "OH WELL". I then went back in the bathroom to finish getting ready for work and began singing and clapping my hands. You see, I've been down this road many times and God has ALWAYS brought me through but this particular time I was a little stronger than the rest and, I know BETTER from attending McClain Ministries Bible Workshops. I knew if I didn't let Satan STEAL my Joy he COULD NOT take my GOODS!

About a month ago, I received a call from my home insurance adjuster stating that I had a depreciation check in the amount of $3200 I said, REALLY! What do I need to do to get the $3200? He said just fax me a "work completed form" from your contractor saying that all the Hurricane Katrina work had been completed. About 2 weeks later, he called back to see if I had gotten in touch with the contractor. I told him I would fax the papers the next day.

The day after that, I called to ask the adjuster if he needed any other information. They told me the adjuster was no longer with the company. I was saddened because he was such a friendly person and, seemed so determined that I receive this money.

It then came to my SPIRIT that this man was on a mission, God said to me that the adjuster was getting ready to leave the company but he had one more loose end to tie up before he could quit. After I faxed those papers to Mr. Santos (the adjuster) his mission was over. About a week later, I received a check in the amount of $3200.

After that check, I received a letter in the mail from my employer, Diversified Technology headquarters, ERGON stating since the company had been prospering as well as it has, everybody would receive a one-time check. Saints I got a check in the mail in the amount of $480 the next day! I have now opened my business account in the name of "ETERNAL CREATIONS" and set up for PAY PAL where I can receive payments by credit card. My business is "BOOMING" and my husband started a new job Monday about 10 minutes from the house.

Through this whole "Test" there is one thing I would like to share with you, TRUST GOD! First of all, let Satan know, WHO you know, then let him know WHAT you know. LOVE YOU ALL.

"MORE HIGHER PRAISES"

From Denise Jones - Saints, I received a call from my daughter, who works for Blue Cross, she called to say that, "someone from a different department told her that someone in another department at Blue Cross was talking about how nice my baskets were." Anitra called me during lunch and I have two $50 baskets to make TONIGHT. One is for an ANNIVERSARY and another for an employee who will be celebrating 30 years at Blue Cross.

"MORE HIGHER PRAISES" Gloria Wallace

Original Prayer Request: As you know I am going on vacation June 15th. I am going to Ontario, California, Oakland, California and then to Dallas, Texas. I am asking all my pray partner's to pray that I will have a safe trip there and back. May God bless all of you.

Praise Report: Just wanted to tell all of you what a wonderful vacation I had. It was a blast. I had a wonderful time God took me to California and Texas and back safely. What an awesome God we serve. Thank all of you for your prayers.

LIVE A LIFE OF PRAISE Jannice Horton

There are Blessings in living a life of Praise. I admonish you to send me your praise reports and prayer requests. Some of us have heard, read and some of us just know that God answers faith-filled prayers. We are to almost beg for Praise Reports. For those faithful in sending prayer requests and rightly should. But for some reason we have of us who have a praise report that you are just sitting on and have never shared or have not shared in a long time, I believe that if you are a member of this ministry you owe it to us and most of all to God to share what He has done for you.

I know that you may have a church family where you give your testimonies. You may say I testify to friends, love ones, coworkers, etc. everyday, but they are not the hundreds of people who read this newsletter and find hope in reading these praise reports. "When praises goes up blesses comes down". Take a look at Denise Jones; I believe since the first publication of this newsletter, I would go as far to say she has not missed giving God some kind of praise each month. Just take a look at some of the past additions you will see a praise report or two from Denise Jones. And God just keep on blessing her time, after time, after time. My point is give, share, and spread the Good News of Jesus Christ. Thanks to everyone who has shared your praises with us and Thank you to everyone who are going to send me your praises for future publications. May God continue to give you Life and it more abundantly. Keep on living or begin today to live a life of praise. "IT PAYS TO PRAISE GOD."

OH' TO BE BLESSED

Here's the difference, really, between being blessed and being worldly successful. I can experience God's blessings "even in darkness." Even when things aren't going well, even when I've messed my life up, even when I'm not smart enough or strong enough or good enough or brave enough, I am still one who is "blessed." Even when I don't feel blessed, it's no less true.

"Blessed are the poor in spirit," Jesus proclaimed. "Blessed are those who mourn. Blessed are the meek, and those who hunger and thirst for just a taste of righteousness. Blessed are those who show mercy and the pure in heart and those who put themselves on the line to bring people together. Blessed even are those who are persecuted, insulted, and accused for no reason other than that they try to live lives that please their God." That list is very different from a list that those with whom we work and go to school, those who live down the street from us, maybe even those who go to church with us, would make of those who were "successful." It sounds ludicrous to say that those who are poor in any way are blessed. It's downright contradictory, isn't it, to say that those who mourn are blessed? In a world that values assertiveness and aggression, it's hard to imagine the meek inheriting anything but leftovers or those who make peace being anything other than doormats. And surely, if living for God brings pain and hardship, one might want to reconsider if He's a God worth living for.

But Jesus says those folks are blessed exactly for the reason that it's not obvious that they're blessed. They are people who choose not to set their hearts on the world's definitions of success and so they find themselves on the outside looking in, misfits who don't seem to have a place in the world's economy. But that's because they have their eyes on God's kingdom instead.

WANTED!

People pay big bucks to have a new look. But few believers would ever consider a makeover. The apostle Paul, however, insists that every believer should have a lasting transformation — not by scalpel, injection, laser correction or liposuction, but through the transformational power of the Holy Spirit:

Do I have the new look from the Holy Spirit?

- A face with fewer frowns, but more full of joy!
- New eyes that don't look down on people, but more upward to Him!
- A new mouth which is less critical and sarcastic, but more praising and encouraging!
- A new nose and chin, not to be stuck up, but more humble!
- A new body that begins to resemble Jesus!

YOU ARE SOMEBODY

With our real friends, we do not have to win anything anymore. We can dare to be ourselves. They love us, knowing us. That is never a license for bad behavior. We love them and we seek what is best for them, but we do not have to hide our wounds, our weaknesses, or our deficiencies. There's nothing to prove! I call them 'open friendships.'

The difference that we experience with our "open friends" is that we are never loved less and we never love them less because of what we find in our vulnerability. Our real friends are the embodiment of the love of God in the flesh. They are steadfast. They know us and they still love us!

Our hidden fear is that if we lost all of the trappings of life — if we were no longer a librarian, or stock broker, or electrical engineer, or an interior decorator, or that successful person living with our fine families in neatly ordered lives — that we would still be loved. If we are afraid of that, it is because we are under-practiced in our exercise of openness. Our unadorned self is an amazing gift. Friends treasure such a gift and give it back in return. All masks can be removed.

IT'S ALL ABOUT BALANCE

You read a great deal these days about living a balanced life. Many sociologists and counselors emphasize the need to have balance in all areas of your life. And many people are realizing that there is more to life than just making a living. It is important to put attention on the important relationships of your life, to take care of yourself physically and to stay mentally sharp. In fact, many are even emphasizing the need to pay attention to the "inner man." Long ago, Jesus gave us the pattern for a balanced life.

"And Jesus grew in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men." (Luke 2:52 NIV)

McClain Ministries E-List

Instead of featuring one of our E-List Entrepreneurs in this edition, I would like to once again tell you what the E-List is all about.

The E-List provides details about services that you won't find in the phone book.

The E List is a National Data Base for a consumer that is developed by a word-of-mouth network. A growing collection of people's real-life experiences with local area services. The people who join the E List are like you — looking for a way to find trustworthy businesses that perform high-quality work. Rather than digging through the phone book's yellow pages, you can check McClain Ministries' E List to find out what services people in your area use.

With McClain Ministries' E list you get the real scoop on both national and local services. It's the real scoop because first of all businesses don't pay to get on the E List, nor can they put themselves on the list. Only the screening committee can recommend a business. Yes, a real-live person reviews and follows up on every registration form.

Also, through the E List, you have the ability to quickly and easily tell other E List members about your experience with a specific business. That's really great news for the businesses that do quality work — and not so great news for the businesses that don't.

The software for the Bulletin Board is still under construction. Once completed it will be located on our website.

Anyone requiring services such as a handyman, roofer, caterer, legal aid, babysitter etc. can just simply go to the Bulletin Board link located on the Homepage of the website and click onto "National Bulletin Board Service." Once there you will find all of our Entrepreneur Services listed by category, i.e. Insurance, Financial, Health & Beauty etc. After clicking onto the desired service – you will be given the option of selecting the State (LA, MS, NY) in which you need the service. Click onto the State and a list of Entrepreneurs will be available. Selection of any of the Entrepreneurs will take you to their website or portfolio with full details of their service.

Our intention is to be a liaison for those who have needs for services and those who provide services. Obviously we will not be able to meet every need in every area - initially. The goal, however, is to build a nationwide data base that will eventually match every need with every service

Partnership Commitment

God has blessed this ministry to reach thousands of people around the world. We've been providing positive resources for daily Christian living for over 6 years. And we want not only to continue this mission but to expand it.

We need your help to make it happen! Twice a year, we take time to very directly ask for your help in this ministry. Now is the perfect time to give a tax-deductible donation that will help keep this ministry working for God's Glory in 2006. Will you join us in this mission?

We are specifically and prayerfully asking for 100 new pledges of $30 per month. Will you be one of the 100? Of course, there are those, of you, who are able to donate much more than $30 a month on a consistent basis. And consistency is what we need.

We are still seeking to start mass production of our resource material. This initiative will require an initial investment of $5080.00. That investment together with the remaining yearly budget of $8924.78 brings our total outreach need to $14,091.78 for the rest of 2006. That's really not a lot when you consider the number of captives that are being set free through the work of this ministry. Have you been blessed by our efforts. If so, why not take a few minutes and commit to a first time pledge or increase your existing pledge. Please do not assume that someone else will give if you do not. Listen to your heart and allow the Holy Spirit to guide your decision.

While you may not always be able to donate or to volunteer your skills-your greatest contribution to McClain Ministries is through the power of prayer. Prayer helps remove barriers, increase vision, and offer protection.

Thank you for your prayerful support!
