

As you begin to think about writing an Ethical Will, write down a few words or a sentence or two to answer the following questions:

What is the one thing that each of my grandparents passed on to my parents?

❖ Maternal Grandmother

❖ Maternal Grandfather

❖ Paternal Grandmother

❖ Paternal Grandfather

What is one thing my father and mother passed on or wants to pass on to me?

❖ Mother

❖ Father

What is something I learned from my

❖ Grandparents

❖ Parents

❖ Siblings

❖ Spouse

❖ Children

What of my dreams have been fulfilled, which remain unfulfilled, and what lessons have I learned in pursuit of those dreams?

If I only had a limited time left to live, what would I regret not having done?

What are some of my greatest accomplishments?

What is something for which I am grateful?

What promises would I like to be kept?

What instructions, reflections, and impressions do I wish to share with those I will leave behind?

How do I want to be remembered?

What words would sum up how I've tried to live my life?
