PRE-TRYOUT CAMP 2010

Due to strong demand from our STA family members, we will be offering a spring pre-tryout camp. STA is really excited to be offering this camp for the first time. The purpose of this program is to help players fine tune their technical skills, increase their confidence level, and give specific knowledge to them in regards to the tryout process as well as put players at ease as opposed to having them show up nervous, or stressed with an overload of information. One of our many goals is to help players make a team, or even move up a team on their own. We believe that our philosophy will help build a positive attitude going into tryouts. As an old coach of mine use to say, "Its not life or death, soccer is only a game." There is so much that can be accomplished in four hours of training. STA is not going to mislead players or give false hope . We believe that honesty and practical information given in regard to the tryout process is more beneficial than a jam packed curriculum. One thing that we can guarantee is that players leaving this program will have the passion, desire and determination needed to face any challenge given to them.

Luis Dominguez Sr. Director of Coaching

"Soccer Touch Academy has been a program that has helped me achieve my ultimate soccer dream. Their unique program was able to help me become a more technical player and improve my abilities. I grew up participating in it and I would recommend it to anyone looking to take that next step in their soccer career! STA has been a huge supporter of soccer in Northern Colorado for several years."

Colin Clark
Colorado Rapids Midfielder

Main Focal Training Points

STA will focus on several technical aspects of your game in a controlled setting which will provide tremendous repetition. The curriculum will focus on first touch, passing and receiving, combination play as well as shooting and finishing. We will also touch on situational play and what to do in certain situations that will present themselves in the tryout process. Defending will also be incorporated as well. STA has a proven recipe of success that has been beneficial to several youth soccer players in the Northern Colorado area.
