Kathy uses our Healthy Living incentives to encourage women to take the glucose screening test. The Diabetic Clinic has patients complete eye and dental checks, labs, foot care, immunizations, exercise tips, and nutrition education. These patients are then referred to Diabetic Education for one-on-one sessions where their assessment results are explained and diabetic plans are created. NRC incentives have helped them increase appointments being kept and diabetes education being received.

Brenda also uses NRC’s Healthy Living service with the Well Child Clinic, where newborns to 4-year-old patients are screened for current immunizations and annual health check-ups. All three partners agree that NRC incentives help ensure a positive healthcare experience for their patients.
The purpose of NRC’s Animal Welfare Service is to increase the education and participation in programs that provide support to domestic animals on Native American reservations. Our Animal Welfare service is designed to help animal welfare programs by providing supplies they need to encourage participation in their rescue, foster care, and adoption activities. If your program is providing animal veterinary care, sheltering or transporting animals for care, or supporting foster care and adoption, then you may be eligible for our Animal Welfare service.

A program may be eligible for the Animal Welfare service if they:

- Offer services that support domestic animals on Native American reservation
- Have a rescue or animal welfare component to their services offered
- Have at least 12 months experience in working with reservation animals
- Serve domestic animals on the reservation and are part of a program committed to animals

NRC is looking for potential partners who are making a difference in their community one animal at a time. If you know of any program that arranges adoptions, spay/neuter clinics, vaccinations, and/or foster care of adoption, please let us know. You can contact NRC at (602) 340-8050 or toll free at (877) 281-0808.

Phil Condoll
Warehouse Associate

Phil has worked with NRC as a Warehouse Associate since February 2008. He receives our incoming products from vendors, which he unloads and organizes for inventory. He then inspects the products to verify the contents and quality of each shipment. After the products are dated, sorted, and stacked, they are ready to be packaged for delivery to Program Partners. Phil enjoys working at NRC because, out of all the jobs he’s worked, he gets a sense of fulfillment knowing that he is assisting Native American communities in a significant way. One year while on vacation, Phil fell in love with our beautiful desert scenery, the wide open spaces, and the clear blue skies, so he moved from Los Angeles to Phoenix. Prior to NRC, Phil worked for Motorola. He has helped with distributions at Zuni Pueblo, and Tsaile and Tuba City on the Navajo Reservation.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: I am currently utilizing one of the NRC services. Am I eligible to apply for another NRC service?

A: NRC partners may request and participate in more than one NRC service. Partners can submit a request form, which we will review to see whether your program qualifies for the particular service being requested.

Q: I completed my home visits, class, or event and have leftover incentives. What do I do with them?

A: We ask NRC partners to save their leftover incentives for use during their next home visit, class, or event. If the Program Partner absolutely cannot use the incentives, then we ask that you call our office and discuss potential uses for them. Incentives are to be distributed to program participants according to our service guidelines.

Q: Can I get a copy of NRC’s inventory list so I can see what is in stock in the warehouse?

A: Unfortunately, NRC is not able to provide Program Partners with a copy of the inventory list. With the number of partners being served, our inventory list is changing on a daily basis. This is why it’s important to complete the follow-up call with your Service Coordinator (SC). During that call, the SC will go over the inventory list with you and recommend or allocate items that will best serve the needs of your program and participants.
