RE: SEQR Delaware River Large Scale Solar Power Plant

October 26, 2018

To whom it may concern:

It has come to our attention that the property at the corner of Yellow Mills and Fox Rd. is tentatively being considered for the development of a 21,000 panel solar plant. We are totally opposed to this being approved by the Farmington Town board.

Our younger son is a research meteorologist in Huntsville, AL. He publishes his research giving presentations at the national conferences as well as traveling abroad to assist the meteorologists in Kenya, Bangladesh, India and Nepal in their forecasting. The northeast United States is notorious for lack of sun especially the Great Lakes area. This leads one to believe that these plants would not be a cost effective source of electricity. The obvious result is endless government/ tax payer subsidies.

That said, we DO NOT want the value of our property slashed by the intrusion of a commercial property in our area. We will not see any benefit of this project only a detriment to our life style. STOP this project now as well as the other solar projects being proposed to carve up our wonderful Town of Farmington!

Yours truly,
