The marker below, installed in 2019 at the Eagle Scout Memorial Fountain near 39th & Gilliam, KCMO, was placed in tribute to Mr. Cliff Illig, 2018 OKC Award recipient. Placing markers to preserve the heritage of Kansas City's 10-county region is an ongoing program of The Native Sons and Daughters of Greater Kansas City.

WHY SHOULD WE PRESERVE OUR HISTORY?

The heritage of Kansas City region is defined by unique characteristics and shared history between the states of Missouri and Kansas. Our heritage is expressed through early cultures which once occupied the land; explorers and pioneers whose vision and fortitude settled this land; and visionaries and entrepreneurs who built our industries, businesses, and trades. It is embedded within the enrichment of our community by more than 60 ethnic groups. The performing and visual arts have enhanced our diversified cultural experience since the 1800s. And our heritage is reflected in the pride of its museums, monuments, markers, and memorials which give tribute to our historic past.

From the 1800's the industries of agriculture, education, science, research, technology, transportation, arts, and sports have served to define the commerce of what is Kansas City. The essence of its character is grounded in its people who serve and nurture our community and serve to protect our welfare and defend our community. We preserve our history to inspire present and future generations with the vision, fortitude and sacrifice made to create what is Kansas City, and as our heritage we offer the appreciation and value of knowledge gained through evolution experienced by Kansas City, known as the "Heart of America".
