The Hour and the Time

The US Presidential election is held on the first Tuesday following the first Monday of November every four years. It is set, fixed, predictable.

In Australia, the Prime Minister has a discretion as to when to call a federal election. As the three year term nears its final months, speculation grows as to the date. All attention focuses on the possible day, the hour full of destiny for the future. Everyone has an opinion, some more informed than others, but only one person knows – the Prime Minister.

It was like that amongst the Jewish people of Jesus' time. There was an expectation that God would intervene in human history. There would be a Divine Manifestation which would set humanity on a new course. Speculation was rife: When would the moment occur, the moment full of destiny for the future?

Israel was often portrayed as a bride in Jewish scriptures. So, the question was sometimes put: 'When would the Bridegroom – the Anointed One of God, the Christ – when would the Bridegroom appear?'

Jesus' warning is to the attendants of the bride: 'Be alert, be vigilant, be prepared. You don't want to miss the moment.' Some (the five foolish attendants) did miss the moment: the earthly ministry of Jesus of Nazareth. They did not see him as the long awaited bridegroom of Israel.

But His warning is also for us.

The Catholic Church is the new Bride of Christ. We are the attendants to the Bride and the imperative applies to us also: Be alert, be vigilant, be prepared.

Prepared for what? For the eruption, the intervention of Our Lord Jesus Christ, the Bridegroom, into our history, into our moment of time.

Our task is to trim our lamps – to be prepared and alert to the signs of His coming.

What will those signs be?

As we will hear in the Gospel two weeks hence, perhaps His coming will be in the least significant people in need, those in need of the necessities of life: food, drink, clothing, companionship.

But his coming could also be in the great movements of history. Where is Christ coming to meet us? Is Christ coming to meet us in the modern movements which demand to hold authority accountable, or which press for just recognition of women?

We can foolishly remain in the dark in relation to these questions, or we can wisely try to throw light on them. Only then we will be able to discern whether indeed it is the Lord who is approaching.

In the meantime, let us take the trouble to ready ourselves to carry the torch for Our Lord should we discern His approach in those or any other great movements of history.

We may be surprised to hear the Gospel acclamation: "In the middle of the night there was a shout: 'The Bridegroom! Come out to meet Him.'"

Will we be prepared when we hear the shout?

Come, Lord Jesus!

Homily by Richard Leonard SJ

One Sunday a pastor told the congregation that the church needed some extra money and asked the people to prayerfully consider giving a little extra in the offering plate. He said that whoever gave the most would be able to pick out three hymns. After the offering plates were passed, the pastor glanced down and noticed that someone had placed a $1000 cheque on the plate.

He was so excited that he immediately shared his joy with his congregation and said he'd like to personally thank the person who placed the money in the plate.

A very quiet, elderly, saintly spinster at the back shyly raised her hand. The pastor asked her to come to the front. Slowly she made her way to altar. He told her how wonderful it was that she gave so much and, in thanksgiving, asked her to pick out three hymns.

Her eyes brightened as she looked over the congregation, pointed to the three most handsome men in the congregation and said, 'OK Father, I'll take him, him, and him.' Now that's a modern take on a wise virgin!

In one sense the parable of the wise and foolish virgins could be considered the first known oil crisis in the east. It is, however, about planning for the future and pacing oneself to see that one has a future to enjoy.

In Christian theology this is called 'discernment'. St Ignatius Loyola, the founder of the Jesuits, wrote a lot about discernment and one of his teachings is that the Holy Spirit allows us to prepare for our future without living it.

Think for a moment of the times when we are going to have a difficult interview or a conversation we would rather not have. We play out in our mind how the interaction will run. It rarely happens how we imagine and we find that our anxiety and fear has often been misplaced. What is curious is that on the next occasion we go through this same process of trying to live the future all over again. Tragically, some people are so anxious about their future that they try and control it and everyone associated with it. It's always a disaster.

St Ignatius was suspicious of this process. Ignatius seems to have understood today's Gospel very well. The early church thought Jesus would return quickly. There was a crisis of faith when he didn't. Some Christians lived as though this imminent return was a fact. We are still waiting. Matthew tells us then, that the Christian life is about wisdom, right judgment and reading the signs of the times.

St Ignatius tells us the best way to prepare for the future is to let go of the unhealed past, as best as we can, and live in the here and now. The Holy Spirit helps us see what needs to be done today and what preparation is necessary for tomorrow. This is such simple and sound advice and yet many of us don't heed it. For some of us it takes nothing to feel the hurt and pain of our past or to be consumed by the future.

Alcoholics Anonymous sums it up neatly when it tells us to take life 'one day at a time' which is another way of saying what Matthew's community came to see, 'keep awake because you know not the time or place'.

Like the sensible bridesmaids in today's parable, good stewards make sure that they, and whatever gifts are theirs to share, are ready to serve when the Master calls.
