The visitation is one of the moving scenes in the Gospel. On a human level, here are two cousins, unexpectedly pregnant in the most extraordinary circumstances, meeting and offering each other greetings and support. We can see the scene and feel the bond.

In the Gospel of Luke this moment is pivotal. These women meet in the mountains where God has always been manifest to the Israelites. Elizabeth is the Old Covenant made to Israel and she carries John who will be the herald of the Messiah. Mary, literally, embodies the new, and final, covenant in Jesus. Elizabeth recognises what is happening here and she embraces all that God is doing for the world. She has tasted the promise of God and now sees its fulfilment.

On a more mundane level, however, a meeting like this would have occasioned much comment and speculation from those outside the inner circle. We only have to imagine it happening today in any small suburb or country town for us to appreciate the human scale of the unfolding drama.

The Iona Community has explored the unwritten history in their story of Mmes Matthew, Mark and Luke, 'The village gossips'.

Narrator: In any small village, news travels quickly. Therefore it is only to be expected that the strange changes in the lives of Mary and Elizabeth might have been food for other people's thought.

Mrs Matthew: Well, ladies, you know how I'm not one for gossip, but wait until you hear this. You know that old woman Elizabeth, with the man who has not spoken for nine months.

Mrs Mark: Yes, what about them?

Mrs Matthew: They say she's had a little boy.

Mrs Luke: At her age? She's 88 if she's a day!

Mrs Matthew: Well, that's what I heard and it was on very good authority!

Mrs Luke: Are you sure you've got the right woman? You're not mixing her up with her cousin?

Mrs Mark: Who? Mary?

Mrs Luke: That's her! Now, I'm not one for talking about anybody but wait until I tell you this. She's pregnant!

Mrs Mark: Never! How do you know?

Mrs Luke: You can tell. You can just tell.

Mrs Matthew: Oh yes, you can tell all right. I heard her in the store last week asking for a dress eight sizes too big for her.

Mrs Luke: There you are. Draw your own conclusions. Now, I know that this will not go any further, but I hear that she and a certain young man are planning to leave the district.

Mrs Matthew: Who is the young man?

Mrs Luke: The joiner's boy, Joseph.

Mrs Mark: Never!

Mrs Luke: Well, that's what they say and I'm not one for gossip.

Mrs Mark: So, have you heard what they're saying about the so-called census?

Mrs Matthew: No. Tell us.

Mrs Mark: Well, I happened to hear that the reason the Romans want our names is not to send us birthday cards.

Mrs Luke: Well, why are they having a census?

Mrs Mark: To register us for a 'poll tax'.

Mrs Matthew: I heard it was a 'community charge'.

Mrs Mark: 'A rose by any other name.'

Mrs Luke: They wouldn't do that, would they?

Mrs Mark: Well I'm just warning you. Mind, I'm not one for gossip.

Mrs Luke: Nor me.

Mrs Matthew: Nor me.

The story of the visitation keeps the rumour going that just when we think we can figure God out, predict how God will enter our lives and our world, he does something none of us can imagine. And the best thing about this rumour is – it's true.

As we wait for Christmas to come again into our lives, let's make room for Jesus Christ who turns our expectations upside down and always gives the gossips plenty to talk about.

The Just Word

Homily of Pope Francis, Manger Square (Bethlehem), Sunday, 25 May 2014 continued from last week's Newsletter.

Sadly in this world, with all its highly developed technology, great numbers of children continue to live inhuman situations, on the fringes of society, in the peripheries of great cities and in the countryside. All too many children continue to be exploited, maltreated, enslaved, prey to violence and illicit trafficking. Still too many children live in exile, as refugees, at times lost at sea, particularly in the waters of the Mediterranean. Today, in acknowledging this, we feel shame before God, before God who became a child.

And we have to ask ourselves: Who are we, standing as we stand before the Child Jesus? Who are we standing as we stand before today's children? Are we like Mary and Joseph, who welcomed Jesus and care for him with the love of a father and a mother? Or are we like Herod, who wanted to eliminate him? Are we like the shepherds, who went in haste to kneel before him in worship and offer him their humble gifts? Or are we indifferent? Are we perhaps the people who use fine and pious words, yet exploit pictures of poor children in order to make money? Are we there to ready for children, to 'waste time' with them? Are we ready to listen to them, to care for them, to pray for them and with them? Or do we ignore them because we are too caught up in our own affairs? This will be a sign for us: you will find a child... 'Perhaps that little boy or girl is crying. He is crying because he is hungry, because she is cold or because he or she wants to be picked up and held in our arms... Today, too, children are crying, they are crying a lot, and their crying challenges us. In a world which daily discards tons of food and medicine there are children, hungry and suffering from easily curable diseases, who cry out in vain. In an age which insists on the protection of minors, there is a flourishing trade in weapons which end up in the hands of child-soldiers, there is a ready market for goods produced by the slave labor of small children. Their cry is stifled: the cry of these children is stifled! They must fight, they must work, they cannot cry! But their mothers cry for them, as modern day Rachels: they weep for their children, and they refused to be consoled. (cf. Mt. 2:18).

A Message for the Diocese of Broken Bay for the Jubilee of Mercy

Dear Friends,
“Jesus Christ is the face of the Father’s mercy” (MV,1).

With this declaration Pope Francis announces to us all an extraordinary Jubilee of Mercy, commenced 8 December 2015 (Solemnity of the Immaculate Conception) and concluding 20 November 2016 (Solemnity of Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe).

To look upon the face of Jesus—that is, to listen to his words, to see his deeds, to recognise his presence—is to experience the love of his Father. It is a love that is shaped entirely by mercy. Jesus displays this mercy through the story of the prodigal son (Lk 15: 11-32), and in his meeting with the Samaritan woman (Jn 4:4-26); we share in the mercy of Jesus, himself, as he stands with the woman condemned by others (Jn 8: 1-11) and the man he welcomes into paradise from the Cross (Lk 23:39-43).

God is constantly turning his face towards us, and his face is always one of compassion, forgiveness and kindness. God knows no other way. Mercy brings to our broken, darkened world the gift of a healed enlightened destiny. Mercy is our hope that sin will not overwhelm us because that is not what God wants for those he loves. Mercy is our way to God. As Pope Francis puts it: “Our salvation depends on it.” (MV,2)

It is not unusual, however, to find that our family, friends and neighbours have little sense of this invitation and possibility. Many of our brothers and sisters find it hard to believe that God—made visible in Jesus—might love them with unsurpassing passion and generosity. God, however, never tires of looking to befriend us; God never tires of hearing our worries and concerns, and even the sins of which we are weighed down and overburdened. Yet, the Cross and the Resurrection of Jesus Christ call us to recognise this reality. In this Year of Mercy may we hear once more: “Neither do I condemn you; go, and from now on sin no more.” (Jn 8:11)

I invite you to join with me as we make the pilgrimage of grace through the coming year, so that we may all become ambassadors of Gospel mercy. Whatever your state in life and whatever the circumstances in which you find yourself, embark with me as a humble pilgrim of mercy this year. Let our words be: compassion, kindness, humility, forgiveness, and simple trust.

May we learn to show real patience to the conflicts and pressures of our family, friends and neighbours, and be bearers of mercy to them, remembering that justice and mercy go together. Justice is attentive to the truth of a situation, and mercy is always attentive to the truth of the persons involved. By showing others mercy, we show them the truth not just of themselves, but of the Lord who loves us.

Our Diocesan family will celebrate the Jubilee of Mercy in a number of ways.

Let us pray for one another as we embark on this beautiful pilgrimage of mercy over the year ahead. “Blessed are the merciful, for they shall receive mercy!” (Matt 5:7)

Yours sincerely in Christ Jesus,

Most Rev Peter A Comensoli

Bishop of Broken Bay.

The Gospel today tells of the Virgin Mary, pregnant herself, hurrying off to help her cousin Elizabeth. The model of good stewardship, she who had given herself to bear the Saviour gave her time and love to others as well.

Dear Parishioners,

It's Christmas time again and I don't know about you but with each passing year it seems to come around more quickly! But what does Christmas mean? Who is it about? Who is it for? Many people are asking these and similar questions in an attempt to give meaning to their tired and empty lives.

We must find a way to reclaim the uniqueness of the Christmas season, if we are ever going to manage to celebrate a Nativity Feast that is more than a riot of consumerism followed by Cricket Tests and the One Day Internationals!

The timing may be right. For many, "The Holidays" have become a nightmare, a time of spiritual whiplash when what is supposed to be a season of joy often turns into an acid bath of cynicism and failed dreams. A time to hit the "turps" and party for as long as possible. Never mind what Christmas is supposed to be about!

Not all that long ago the Holy Father, Pope Benedict XVI reminded us that while Christmas has become more popular in recent years, this increased popularity has often been at the expense of its Christian origin, and that its meaning is often forgotten "even among Christians". He also said that the crib's revival is often characterised by nostalgia and sentimentalism, but it nevertheless helps "to understand the secret of the true Christmas, because it speaks of the humility and of the merciful goodness of Christ, who although he was rich, became poor for us".

Many crave true beauty in a season of tinsel and cheap sentiment. Many seek fellowship during a time of year that pours salt into the wounds of those with broken families and fading dreams. Others may survive the blitz of high-pressure advertising, shallow parties, crazed shopping, long journeys, tense family reunions, and saccharine TV specials and then say, "Didn't Christmas used to mean more than this? Where is the wonder of Christmas?"

We can only find the answers to these questions when we accept and promote that.....

JESUS IS CHRISTMAS!

At this time may I say thanks for all of your support during the year and on behalf of Fr. Timothy, Fr. Philip and myself I extend to you God's blessings and wish you a Holy and Merry Christmas.
