For most small businesses and any one with a job or seeking employment it has been a challenging year. The deleveraging which is occurring in our economy continues to make business and life difficult. During the past several months the markets have been rallying and attitudes have been slowing turning more positive, however, during the second half of May many economy articles still warn of multi-year challenges ahead and some are even mentioning a recovery and a second recession within a year. Action is needed immediately to build liquidity and reduce debts. Please contact us should you want our assistance with forming a solution.
