

McClain Ministries

An Invitation of Love

An Invitation of Love

When deciding the location of my retirement home, there was one significant prerequisite that loomed extremely important to me. The acquisition had to be a place that the members of McClain Ministries could share.

I want each of you to have the opportunity to share in this ministry's blessings. This brochure represents an invitation of love. An invitation to visit the home of McClain Ministries at your convenience.

So often during my professional years, I needed a place to "get away;" away from the stress and pressure of the "world system." A Place of Refuge.

So why not plan a visit to not just my home but your home as well and be treated like the "kings and priests you are."

Revelations 1:5

No matter whether you are out of town or local, no matter whether your plans include the visit of a month, week, day or hour; you are welcome to a place of refuge.
