

CNN SAVED MY LIFE!

Lyori Epstein

I had spent six weeks in a coma after a terrible accident. A visitor to my hospital room turned on CNN. I had to get up and change the channel.

Enjoying a slice with the love of your life

In 1818, the US began building a fort near the border of New York and Quebec to defend against an invasion from Canada. After a couple of years of construction, they realized that the fort was actually on the Canadian side, so they abandoned it and named it "Fort Blunder."

Before becoming a famous actress in classic sitcoms such as Maude and The Golden Girls, Bea Arthur served in the US Marine Corps as a truck driver and dispatcher between 1944 and 1945. She was one of the first members of the United States Marine Corps Women's Reserve, and she was honorably discharged at the rank of staff sergeant.

This is a Mark 15 thermonuclear bomb. In 1958, a bomb like this one was lost in the waters off Tybee Island, Georgia - less than 20 miles from downtown Savannah. It has never been found.

The first successful electric car made its debut in the US in 1890, and by 1900, electric cars had become so popular that there was a fleet of electric cars and taxis in New York City. These electric vehicles were not only a status symbol, but they also accounted for a third of all vehicles on the road.
