I bought my hubby a new 50" TV last week because his old one broke down. We took the old TV and put it in the box that the new one came in and set it in our entryway. Porch pirate came and picked it up on Tuesday night. I just wish I could see his face when he finds out it's no good. He saved us a trip to the dump and got his just karma. 🤔

Han Min-hong, a South Korean professor, built and successfully tested a self-driving car in 1993. The car traveled 185 miles from Seoul to Busan through one of South Korea's most heavily-traveled expressways. Despite the amazing results, the government saw no future in the technology and scrapped funding for his research.

When asked,
how they managed
to stay together for 65 years,
the woman replied

*"We were born in a time,
where if something was broken,
you fixed it..*

...rather than throw it away."
