If masculinity were truly toxic, then kids growing up without dads would presumably be better off than those who have them. But, they're not: they tend to be more depressed, aggressive & criminal. Truth is: we need more masculinity in society, not less.--> Gentlemans Barber Shop

As I walked one day with my father, he suddenly asked me, "do you hear anything?"

Yes, I replied, "the noise of a wagon."

"Excellent," he said, "and it's empty."

"How do you know? We can't see it!"

"Very easy: because the emptier the wagon is, the more noise it makes."

Since then, if I hear someone talking or bragging to much and belittling others, I hear father's voice saying:

"The emptier the wagon is . . .
the greater the noise it makes."

Pfizer got sued for $2,300,000,000 in 2009 for "bribing doctors and suppressing adverse trial results".

Good to know.
